U. S. Troops Forced Back Eight to Ten Miles

UN LEADERS ANTICIPATING A LONG WAR

Officials Setting Up As Strong a Police Force As Organization Can Muster

COUNCIL WILL MEET

Lake Success, July 6—(P)—Veteran U. N. people feel that the United Nations is in for a long hard campaign to turn back Communist aggression in Asia. They are for setting up as strong a U. N. police force as they can get.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie and his top aides would like to see the Korea fighting ended immediately with the North Koreans pulling back beyond the 38th parallel, boundary between North and South Korea.

But persons familiar with their views say that the U. N. executives have just about concluded it will not be a short-term campaign unless there should be some entirely unexpected shift.

Even after the war in Korea is over, U. N. observers say, there is no guarantee that Communists will not break out somewhere else in Asia and the whole police action will have to start again.

In the belief that the war will continue for some time, the U. N. is preparing quietly the framework for an effective police force as it can muster.

The Security Council meets tomorrow for the first of these steps.

The U. S., France, Britain and Norway were reported yesterday to have discussed a proposal for the Council to do these two things:

1. Allow the United States to designate Gen. Douglas MacArthur as supreme U. N. commander in the Korean war.
2. Recommend that forces of U. N. members in the field fly the blue and white U. N. flag along with their national flag.

Lie and most U. N. delegates are said to favor MacArthur continuing on the job. From the start, the U. N. has made it clear the responsibility for military decisions and acts was up to MacArthur.

Four members of the military staff committee, made up of representatives of the chiefs of staff of the U. S., France, Britain, China and the Soviet Union, also say it is MacArthur's show. Russia, of course, has boycotted the military staff committee, as well as the Security Council, since January.

KILLED BY CAR

Altoona, July 6—(P)—As Mrs. Margaret Campbell, 75, of nearby Duncanville, walked around the rear of a bus from which she had just alighted, she was struck by an auto last night near her home. She died of a skull fracture.

Congress To Be Asked For Funds For "Campaign of Truth" in Korean Area

Washington, July 6—(P)—President Truman is expected to ask congress probably next week for funds to launch an intensive "campaign of truth" in Korea and other critical areas in the east-west struggle.

Included are Indochina, neighboring southeast Asia countries and Iran, all objects of Communist pressure.

Secretary of State Acheson reported yesterday that a plan for "broader and stronger program

New Castle Firm Is Awarded Contract For the Repairing Of Two Bridges In the Borough

Warren councilmen, meeting in the Municipal building last night, scanned bids for various repair and improvement projects in the borough and also for providing facilities at War Memorial field. Action was taken on some of the bids, while others were held over to an adjourned meeting of council slated for next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The Conn Machine and Welding Co. of New Castle was awarded the contract for repairing the Fifth avenue bridge spanning Conewango creek and for installing new steel mesh floors, similar to the new flooring in the Glade bridge, on both the Fifth and Third avenue bridges across the Conewango. The New Castle firm's bid for the work was $53,157.10.

There were other bidders for the work, as follows: Keystone Construction Co., Meadville, $59,975; High Welding Co., Lancaster, $58,390; and H. T. Osborn and Co., Franklin, $64,400.

It is planned to repair the Fifth avenue bridge and install the new floor before work is begun on the Third avenue span. The Fifth avenue bridge was heavily damaged recently when a main girder twisted under the weight of a big truck. The bridge has been closed to all traffic since then, and a request by residents of the upper Conewango avenue section to reopen the bridge to passenger traffic until actual repair work is started was turned down last night as being "impractical" and "too costly."

Work on the two bridges is scheduled to be completed within 90 days after signing of the contract.

Solons also awarded a contract last night to the Warren Planing Mill for furnishing materials for a 24-inch storm sewer in Morrison street which will be installed by borough work crews. The sewer will extend 1400 feet from Fourth avenue to the river, and is expected to alleviate a periodic flooding problem caused by rapid runoff of surface water from the steep hillside near Public Way.

Warren Planing Mill's bid was $3,641 per foot for three-foot sections of sewer pipe.

Proposals also were received from the Oneida Lumber Co., of Warren, the Schaeffer Wholesale Co., the Beshlin Coal Co., the Universal Certified Corp. of Cleveland, the Robinson Clay Products Co., and the American Vitified Pipe Co., of Cleveland, but some of the bids could not be considered because they were not accompanied by certified 10 percent performance checks, as required in the legal advertisements for the bids.

Council also awarded concession (Turn to Page Ten)

"The legislation I have in mind," Rogers told newsmen, "would provide that the government take over payment of rents and mortgages and life insurance premiums if the man inducted requests it. The government would make those payments direct to the landlord, the mortgage holder or the insurance company during the time a man is in service and for six months after he gets out, in order to give him a chance to get back on his feet."

The payments made by the government would be in the form of a loan to the inducted man and would be repayable, without interest, after discharge. The time of repayment would be based on length of service.

Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge Ends On Note of World Brotherhood

Valley Forge, July 6—(P)—The Boy Scouts end their mammoth national jamboree tonight on a note of world brotherhood.

Already the exodus of some 47,000 boys and leaders to their homes in nearly every part of the world is ready to start.

A note of sadness dimmed the jamboree spirit with the announcement that one Scout, ill with poliomyelitis when he arrived at camp, had died.

The victim was Gordon Taylor, 13, of Rock Springs, Texas. Two other boys were hospitalized for what medical authorities termed mild polio attacks. Their names were not disclosed but their parents were notified.

Dr. William J. McNally of the U. S. Public Health Service said there was no sign of an epidemic and that the general health level at the jamboree was excellent.

For all that the jamboree was in its last hours, the scene at George Washington's 1777-78 headquarters remained as colorful and action-filled as ever, with the yipping, yo yo-twirling youngsters in a final frenzy of swapping everything from horned toads to watermelons.

"It's a combination of Coney Island on the Fourth of July and the stock exchange in a bull market," declared one news photographer, weary and footsore after pursuing the darling Scouts on foot from one end of the 625-acre encampment to the other.

But the boys' behavior came in (Turn to Page Ten)

BANK CALL ISSUED
Washington, July 6—(P)—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks at the close of business June 30.

Harrisburg, July 6—(P)—The state banking department today issued a call for a statement of condition, as of June 30, of all state banks, bank and trust companies, trust companies, savings banks, private banks and employees' mutual banking associations. The report must be published.

The state department's interim plan calls for stepping up quickly the distribution of news bulletins, leaflets, documentary films and urgent use of other means to convince Asian and middle eastern peoples that the United States is their friend and benefactor rather than the imperialists ogre pictured by Communist propaganda.

Recommendations call for more than doubling the present number of officers of the U. S. information service in cities of southeast Asia, Korea and Iran. These countries already are reached by "voice of America" broadcasts.

Three Dead and Huge Property Damage Result From Western Penn'a Storms

Pittsburgh, July 6—(P)—Western Pennsylvania counted three dead and property damage in the hundreds of thousands of dollars today in the wake of torrential rains of near cloudburst proportions.

Flash floods ripped through narrow tributary valleys along the Allegheny and Ohio rivers in the Pittsburgh district yesterday. Westmoreland and Washington counties also were hit.

Traffic was snarled and hundreds of basements flooded. Gardens were washed away. Scores of auto trailers were pushed around like toys. Small buildings lost their foundations and roads were chewed up by the torrents.

Drowned were William H. Ward, 58, proprietor of an Ohio township trailer camp in Allegheny county; Mrs. Mary E. Millsap, 33, of R.D. 3, Coraopolis, and her daughter, Rita, seven.

Another man was reported drowned but was later found alive and unhurt.

Ward was drowned in flood-swollen Lowme's Run near his trailer camp. He and two other men had just completed the rescue of a woman and her three children from their flood-threatened home. Mrs. Millsap's body was recovered last night from the Ohio River.

NO RECORD SET
Pittsburgh, July 6—(P)—The weatherman did his best today to cheer up rain-soaked western Pennsylvanians.

Forecaster Henry Rockwood said rain is unlikely tomorrow. He described yesterday's torrential downpour as "not common" but said no record was set.

He said the rainfall measured 2.74 inches in 24 hours at the Allegheny county airport. In 1887, 3.85 inches were measured in one 24-hour period.

er near Ambridge. Flaugherty's Run empties into the Ohio. The body of her daughter has not been recovered.

Ward's body was recovered two hours after he fell into the water from a telegraph pole. He and two companions clung to the pole after rescuing Mrs. Ed Boeh and her children, Eddie, 10, Jerry, 9, and Kenny, 4. The telegraph pole was struck by a trailer swept from its moorings by the raging waters.

The storm belt in the Pittsburgh area extended from Moon town ship south of the Ohio River near Coraopolis to Sharnburg on the Allegheny river. An estimated four

DUBOIS IN ROW OVER FIRE TRUCK PURCHASE
DuBois, July 6—(P)—Five taxpayers, headed by former Sheriff W. H. Shaw, went to court to keep the city of DuBois from buying a fire truck from the American Laffrance Corporation, Elmira, N. Y.

Shaw charged the city is buying a 75-foot aerial ladder truck for $28,000 from a firm which is not the low bidder, as required by state law. The suit alleges the Seagraves Corporation, Cincinnati, was low with $27,124.

JAMBOREE ACTIVITIES

BULLETIN

Galesburg, Ill., July 6—(P)—Eight passengers were crushed and twisted to death today in a freak collision of two sleek Santa Fe Railway streamliners running side by side.

Coroner Chauncey Wood of Peoria county placed the death toll at eight. Earlier reports had it seven, with possibly an eighth fatality. The number of injured ranged between 50 and 75, some critically.

Galesburg, Ill., July 6—(P)—Two fast Santa Fe Railway passenger trains collided today, killing at least seven persons.

Otto Brinkman, reporter for the Peoria Journal, said witnesses at the scene told him the fatality list might reach ten. Seven were known dead.

At least 50 persons were reportedly injured, many seriously. They were being sent to hospitals in Peoria and Galesburg.

Judge Holds Court In Bank Vault To Investigate Claims For Treasure Trove

Philadelphia, July 6—(P)—It is seldom anyone actually sees $92,800—in cash.

But yesterday lawyers and claimants in court proceedings to recover the "treasure trove" found in a south Philadelphia cellar went to the Trademans' National Bank and Trust Co. under orders of Judge Eugene V. Alessandrini to inspect the $92,800.

The money was taken from the bank's vaults in another effort to determine ownership of the treasure.

The money was found by Benjamin Lieberman, former bookkeeper for a defunct dairy. Since his discovery it has been claimed by several interested parties, including the creditors of the bankrupt dairy.

Lieberman, himself, claimed it on a finders-keepers basis. The commonwealth of Pennsylvania wants it under the rules of escheat. And finally, Mrs. Theresa Hillop, widow of Anthony J. Hillop, claims her husband secreted the money in Lieberman's home before Hillop was shot to death near Hammon, N. J., in 1932.

Judge Alessandrini last spring ordered the funds sequestered to conduct additional hearings. Yesterday's viewing was part of the new series of hearings.

Broderick had promised a former driver of the dairy would be present to identify markings on some of the bills to support the creditors' contention that the money represents stolen assets of the dairy.

The driver failed to appear. (Turn to Page Ten)

Fast Moving Red Tank Units Accompanied By Infantrymen Compel Americans To Retreat

Washington, July 6—(P)—General MacArthur's headquarters has advised the Pentagon that the situation of American ground forces in Korea "is not considered serious in any way."

An army spokesman, telling today of the MacArthur advice, denied vigorously that an American infantry outpost was "wiped out" by North Korea's tank-led forces.

Tokyo advised the Pentagon, the spokesman said, that the outpost had withdrawn behind strong defensive positions and that losses were "very moderate."

The attack on the outpost was made in force by an undetermined number of Korean troops and between 40 to 50 tanks.

"The withdrawal of the outpost," the spokesman said, "followed approved tactical procedures and in no respect was the outpost wiped out."

Tokyo, July 6—(P)—A spokesman at American headquarters in South Korea said today U. S. troops had been forced back eight to 10 miles by advancing Communists from the north.

He said 20 to 35 Red tanks and 19 to 25 Russian built Yak airplanes had been destroyed by the Americans. He did not mention American losses. But an American officer at the front placed U. S. Ground Force losses at nominal to "heavy" without any indication of the size of the U. S. Force committed to battle.

The battle line stretched from Pongtaek in the west to Chechon, about 12 miles north of the 37th parallel, and then due east to a coastal town north of Uchlin.

American reinforcements were being rushed to three points on the U. S. left flank at Pyangnyon, Kongdoyu and Kanu, none of which are shown on detailed maps. The main action was reported in that area. The spokesman said the Reds, their drive gaining force and fury, had between 160 and 170 Russian built heavy tanks in South Korea. He added they might be running low on fuel and supplies.

The fast moving Red tanks forced abandonment of one American command post. Red infantrymen accompanied the tanks.

American gunners fired at almost point blank range on the tanks, then removed breech locks and gun sights and pulled back.

A front line dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Tom Lambert said the Reds had captured Pongtaek and Songhwan and nosed into Chonan. Pongtaek is 36 miles south of Seoul and Chonan 12 miles beyond that. Songhwan is between.

A senior American officer, pausing at a railroad station in the battle zone, said gloomily: "It was a bad one this time."

U. S. soldiers, including at least one European war veteran, agreed. That could mean real American losses and a general kicking around by the invaders, who have shown power in their southward thrust.

The Americans were said to have destroyed 10 tanks in rear guard action.

Approximately 40 tanks and 1,000 North Korean infantrymen were in the fast moving force, which once was halted temporarily but picked up speed a short time later.

The U. S. Far East Air Force said its warplanes contacted no North Korean aircraft on 74 sorties. A sortie is one flight by one plane.

Contact With The Enemy Stretches Over a Long Front

American Headquarters, Korea, July 6—(P)—A headquarters spokesman said today 20 to 35 Northern Korean Communist tanks and 19 to 25 Yak airplanes had been destroyed by American forces in Korea.

The spokesman confirmed the Americans had retreated from forward positions.

(Previous frontline dispatches and MacArthur's headquarters had told of American withdrawals but did not list what Americans had destroyed.)

(This dispatch did not say whether the Red losses were one day's, or the total to date. Presumably however they were the latter.)

Contact with the enemy stretches along a northeast line from slightly south of Pongtaek in the west of Chechon, about 12 miles north of the 37th parallel, and then due east to the coastal town of Tokchon north of Uchlin the spokesman said.

North of these points the invaders apparently were having their own way, he added.

The spokesman said reinforcements were on the way to three points on the American left flank. He named these as Pyangnyon, Kongdoyu and Kanu.

"The main action has been at these three points," he said. "It was fluid during the afternoon but is static now."

"The situation on our right flank from Kungmyong to Tokchon is static."

The spokesman said 160 to 170 Red tanks are believed south of the 38th parallel. He added it was believed they are running low on fuel and supplies.

Asked if there were any amphibious landings south of the line he described, the spokesman replied: "I cannot answer that."

"Yesterday afternoon we had a liaison flight over 1,000 north Korean troops and not one got up to fire his rifle or carbine," he continued. "The men were exhausted."

The invaders' trucks were off (Turn to Page Ten)

Outlook For Excise Tax Cut Is Tied Up Tighter Than Ever With War In Korea

Washington, July 6—(P)—The American consumer's outlook for a multi-million-dollar excise tax cut—on movie tickets, fur coats, pocketbooks, jewelry and scores of other things—was tied tighter than ever today to the war in Korea.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee summed up the tax situation thus:

1. The committee, now considering the house-approved measure to slash excises by $1,010,000,000, "will proceed in a normal, orderly way" to bring a tax bill to vote in the senate and send it speedily to President Truman.

2. But "if there is a sudden worsening" of the international situation "we may find it advisable to delay final action on any tax bill at this session of congress, and then proceed in January with a tax bill."

Moreover, the president's chief fiscal spokesman urged the committee, in cutting excises, to impose larger taxes in other directions—except on individuals—not only to offset the excise loss but also to put millions of additional revenue into the treasury.

REPORTING

As the fiscal year rolls to an end for the Warren Public Library, writing reports becomes a way of life for the staff members. It's a way of life no one would care to continue for any long period of time, and while it lasts other library activities have to suspend.

So, while the musical clank of the adding machine plays the July theme song for the public library, here are a few suggestions for summer reading:

The Stubborn Heart by Frank Slaughter—As in Mr. Slaughter's other books, the hero in this is a doctor. The story unfolds in the period after the Civil War in the South, and tells of the individual problems made more intense by defeat and the shabby era of Reconstruction.

I, My Ancestor by Nancy Ross—Mrs. Ross' book is a modern one and the hero's problem is modern. Driven to a breakdown by the conflicts between the life he lives and the life his instinct tells him is better, he finds refuge on an island among people who are relaxed and understanding. His father is the main character who shows him that choices must be made and that happiness can be found even when a problem has no real solution.

The Other Father by Laura Hobson—Mrs. Hobson has gained fame for her polite handling of thorny plots and this is no exception. It is the situation a father finds himself facing when, with a young woman for his own mistress, he discovers that his daughter is having an affair with a married man. Not all may agree with the final solution, but it is without doubt compelling reading.

Ladder to the Sky by Joyce Simpson—Especially appropriate for this oil country is Mrs. Simpson's biographical narrative of her father's experiences as an oil field owner. Her family's adventures make interesting reading and her

MYSTIC CLOSING DATE

Dennis J. Di Piero, proprietor of the White House Inn, advises that Saturday will be the last day to see and hear Judith Anderson, the international famous mystic who "sees all," "knows all" and "tells all." Her outstanding fame and popularity in Warren and surrounding towns has brought house packing throngs to this popular night spot for the past week and with the week-end even larger crowds are expected, so it will be well to make reservations early. The White House Inn's new "Fring Dinners" are also going over big with the crowds.

descriptions of operations in the oil fields are authentic.
Comes the Comrade by Alexander Orme—Life near Budapest during the early part of the Russian occupation is described here by an author who does not hesitate to tell all sides of the story. She and her family found the Russian soldiers to be an amazing combination of brute and child, sensitive to criticism and sometimes insanely arrogant to hide ignorance of the more sophisticated Western culture. The narrative is harrowing at times but often very amusing.

THREE A. L. CLUBS STAGE PLAYER SHIFT

New York, July 6.—(P)—Three American League baseball clubs—the Boston Red Sox, St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox—figured in player shifts yesterday.
The Red Sox sold Pitcher Charlie Schanz to the Browns for the $10,000 waiver price and the Browns sent Pitcher Lou Kretlow to the White Sox on the same terms.
Schanz, 30-year-old righthander, won 22 games for Seattle in the Pacific Coast League last year but has seen little service with the Red Sox this year.
The 27-year-old Kretlow, also a righthander, pitched in nine games this year with the Browns. He won none and lost two.
Kretlow was with Detroit in late 1948 and 1949, used chiefly as a relief hurler.

Community Trust To Administer Gifts And Bequests For Charitable Purposes Is Established Jointly By Two Banks

The Warren National Bank and the Warren Bank and Trust Company have today jointly announced the establishment of The Warren Foundation, a non-profit community charitable trust having purposes identical with those of similar community trusts and foundations in operation in more than a hundred American and Canadian cities and towns.

The announcement, which is contained in a booklet distributed by the sponsoring banks, states that the Foundation is a permanent medium through which a donor may give funds during his lifetime or may leave funds under his will for any charitable, educational, religious, benevolent or kindred purpose, in the interests of the people of Warren and vicinity. Choice of the trustee—either the Warren National Bank or the Warren Bank and Trust Company—rests with the donor. The trustee selected will invest the funds for the account of the Foundation. Periodically, the income from such investments will be allocated by the Foundation's Distribution Committee.

This committee, bank officers interviewed state, is the heart of the Foundation plan. Its function is to direct expenditures of income from each trust in accordance with the desires of the donor, or if no instructions are given, then in the best judgment of the Distribution Committee in the light of community welfare needs.

Because the Foundation is expected to operate in perpetuity, the method of selection of the members of this committee—chosen for their knowledge of the educational, charitable or benevolent needs of the times—is carefully provided for. They shall serve without compensation and are appointed as follows:

One member appointed by the Presiding Judge of Warren County; one by the Burgess of Warren Borough; one by the president of the Warren County Bar Association, and two by the Trustees' Committee.

The respective appointments to the original Distribution Committee are as follows: Clare J. Cray, for a term of one year; Harry W. Conarro, two years; Neil D. Patterson, three years; Mrs. Richard G. Dawson, four years; and Chester S. Allen, five years. Mr. Allen has been elected chairman of the committee. As is well known, all of the members of this committee have for many years been leaders in civic and charitable fields in this community.

The Trustees' Committee as originally constituted is composed of the presidents of the two banks acting as trustees—W. Floyd Clinger, of the Warren Bank and Trust Company and Albert L. Rasmussen, of the Warren National Bank—and the Presiding Judge of Warren County, Honorable Allison D. Wade. To this committee are delegated such powers as may be necessary to carry out the objects of the Foundation, including power to appoint two members of the Distribution Committee and to approve other banks in Warren Borough which may in the future be authorized by law to accept trusts for the purposes of the Foundation. Should a third bank be qualified as a trustee, its president will replace the Presiding Judge of Warren County as a member of the Trustees' Committee, its membership always being held at an uneven number.

The Distribution Committee has appointed Holger N. Elmquist, Vice President of the Warren Bank and Trust Company, as Director of the Foundation and as Secretary of the Distribution and Trustees' Committees. The booklet describing the plan (copies of which may be obtained from any bank in Warren) contains suggested forms for bequests and gifts for incorporation in wills and trust agreements. All practicing lawyers in Warren have been given copies of the complete text of the Resolution and Declaration of Trust adopted by the banks acting as trustees for the Foundation.

Bank officers interviewed stressed the importance of the Foundation as a medium for small gifts and bequests, as well as large. For administration purposes, all gifts and bequests of less than $25,000 will be commingled in one fund by each trustee, and all of them in excess of that amount unless the donor directs that his gift or bequest be administered as a separate fund.

An individual having a special interest in the work of a particular charitable agency might be reluctant, they point out to burden a separate trustee with the administration of a trust fund of modest amount created under his will, but would welcome the opportunity to achieve the same purpose by willing the amount to a trustee already set up for such purposes, to be administered as a part of a larger fund made up of numerous gifts and bequests, the income from his proportion to be paid to his favorite charitable organization.

A major object of the Foundation plan is the provision for flexibility in the application of funds held by the Foundation, if changing conditions should make it impracticable to carry out the donor's wishes. Examples cited of spectacularly unsuccessful attempts to peer into the future—the Benjamin Franklin Endowment Fund for Indentured Apprentices in Boston and Philadelphia, the Bryan Mullanphy Fund in St. Louis for stranded pioneers in covered wagons, the Snug Harbor in State Island with its hundred million dollar fund for the benefit of non-existent "stranded sailors before the mast"—underscore the importance of the discretion vested in the Distribution Committee to meet changing conditions.

The Warren Foundation is patterned after the Pittsburgh Foundation in all essential particulars. It offers to the benevolently inclined citizens of Warren a carefully considered plan, Foundation officers declare, for the conservation and wise, timely use of gifts and bequests for community welfare purposes. It utilizes the trust department of whichever of the two bank trustees the donor may specify for the wise investment of the funds. Through its Distribution Committee, it provides thorough knowledge of current needs to which may be applied the income or capital of such funds, within the terms of the bequest. Ample safeguards are assured through the use of bank trustees and through the method of appointment of the members of the Distribution Committee, non-political and non-sectarian, with a strong sense of civic and social consciousness.

The Foundation does not duplicate or conflict with the functions of any existing agency, it was pointed out. It can and will support such agencies as the Community Chest and through it contribute to many agencies and institutions. In this way it can provide the funds for these and other projects, not only those functioning at the time the gift or bequest is made to the Foundation but of others which may later arise.

In order to avoid creating an impression in the minds of the people of this community that the current financial needs of local charitable agencies have now been provided for, Foundation officers emphasize that it will first be necessary to accumulate endowment funds over the years through gifts and bequests before there can be any income from the investment of such funds to be distributed—that the Foundation looks to the future, and is not a present source of financial aid to local charitable organizations.

Three New Teachers Are Elected By Directors For the Youngsville Schools

Youngsville school board, in its polishing, dyeing and resetting all blackboards in the seven elementary rooms.

Harvey Horn, music instructor, was granted permission to spend Friday morning of each week, during the summer music school, in Grand Valley, in order that students of Eldred township might take advantage of the school.

The annual report of the school cafeteria was submitted, showing income of $7005.90 and expenditures of $6564.43. Type A lunches served included 19,558, and Type C to the number of 11,567. There were 32,300 half-pints of milk purchased during the year. Equipment added included a new food mixer and dishes with additional tables and chairs yet to be purchased. The report stated that a new dishwasher and more room is needed.

The school calendar for 1950-51 was adopted. School will open on Tuesday, August 29 and close on Tuesday, May 29, 1951, with the usual vacations on Labor Day, Institute, Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter.

The application of the Brokenstraw Valley Joint School Board to the Public School Building Authority has been forwarded, it was reported.

The extension recreation program for 1950-51 has also been approved.

Attention of the board was called to the fact that an analysis of standardization tests used in the elementary grades at the close of school this year indicate that Youngsville students are well above average in comparison with students elsewhere.

Members of the Youngsville faculty who are attending summer school include the following: at Penn State, Supervising Principal Paul Getts, Mrs. Rosadell Galmish and William Beggs; at Western Reserve, Miss Janet Henry; at Pitt, Howard McCormick; at Syracuse, John Rodgers.

Personal To Women With Naggig Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slow down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions. If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief -- help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

INDECISION IN FAR EAST

Our leaders' brave response to the Russian challenge in Korea should not blind us to the fact that America up to now has behaved in a fashion that would invite such a crisis.

Neither President Truman, his topflight advisers or Congress can escape blame for political, military and psychological mistakes that helped set the stage for communism's march against South Korea.

No fair individual would argue that from 1945 on we should have seen the Russians for what they are. They were our wartime allies, and we could not overnight begin regarding them as potential enemies. But at least since late 1946 we have understood that the Soviet Union is bent on world conquest.

In the light of that knowledge, which has been continuously reinforced by events ever since, the United States has committed errors that stamp us as still immature and unrealistic in world affairs.

For example, we withdrew our occupation troops from South Korea 18 months ago. We did this because President Syngman Rhee of the new Korean republic requested it; because Russia was gaining propaganda advantage from her removal of troops from North Korea, and because our military men said the country was strategically indefensible and thus worthless in the broad Pacific defense pattern.

We shrugged off the really critical fact: that the departing Russians had left behind them a strong, well-equipped North Korean puppet army, while South Korea had only ill-trained, inadequately armed defenders.

To be sure, the U. S. voted arms aid to South Korea, but it has been painfully slow in arriving. To pin hope on South Korea's ability to save itself if attacked was obviously a gross misjudgment almost devoid of realism.

Formosa illustrates our failures, too. American military leaders disagreed over its strategic worth, and those who rated it secondary won Mr. Truman's ear. Their views were underlined by Secretary of State Acheson's belief that intervention to protect Formosa meant outraging Asiatics who are showing more and more desire to work out their destinies without western help.

But now we have reversed our attitude on the ground that the Korean war alters the picture. It certainly does. But the threat to Korea was always there. If Korea was originally considered indefensible and yet its possession by a hostile power is reason for us to safeguard Formosa why shouldn't we have prepared to defend the island from the start?

In keeping hands off Formosa we may have smoothed the nationalist feelings of several Asiatic countries; but on the other hand we did ourselves much harm by convincing many leaders there that we had no intent to act firmly against communism in Asia.

Our long indecision regarding vital Indo-China is in the same category. We have recently reaffirmed our purpose to aid the French in their hot war against Ho Chi Minh's Red forces. But we have been and still are dangerously slow in making that purpose effective.

By these failures, by these withdrawals and half-hearted gestures of support, we have encouraged the Russians to move forward, probing Asia's soft spots. Had we appraised the situation maturely and realistically and acted with unmistakable firmness on the basis of such an appraisal, Russia would have been discouraged from advancing.

Perhaps we can learn from this Korean war that the time to show our true fiber is before a crisis develops.

Not every showdown can be averted, nor should it be. But the wisdom and bravery that is now going into this one might better have been expended in preventing it from arising.

All things considered the three-day Fourth of July celebration, including the mammoth parade Tuesday morning, was staged under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in what may be described as a flawless manner. It would be impossible for the boys to publicly acknowledge all courtesies received that helped to make the event the success it was. Whole-hearted cooperation of everyone in the community made the event possible.

The police department officials deserve a pat on the back for the manner in which they are handling the traffic bottleneck each afternoon around five o'clock at the intersection of Third and Conewango avenues. The blue-coats are doing a good job that is much appreciated by motorists living east of the creek.

Through hard work, smart people are getting to the point where they're well off.

American Democracy at Work

WE NEVER SEEM TO BE UNITED ON ANYTHING—

Here And There

Here's a story, as told by a member of the celebration committee, that reflects the attitude and appreciation of some people toward a civic-minded and self-sacrificing group of citizens who are willing to give of their time, effort and money to sponsor a good time for the community. According to this committeeman, who attended perhaps a score of meetings since February, helping to formulate the plans for the celebration, a Warren business man approached him at Memorial Field Tuesday afternoon with the remark: "You sure have the best racket that Warren has seen in a long time!" Asked what he meant by such an accusation, the man explained further: "Sixty cents to get in, and fifty cents for a reserved seat. If that isn't a racket, I don't know what is!" The "patron" was reminded that he did not have to pay for a reserved seat, and as a matter of fact he was not dragged into the field, nor was he detained there by force,

This and That: One of the fishing oddities of recent years is reported at Corry where two anglers returned to that city with northern pike which were caught in Brokenstraw Creek, just east of the city. The pike, measuring 29 and 27 inches in length, were taken by John Machac and Delbert Ploss while they were casting for bass. The landing of the pike came as a surprise as it was not known that this species of fish was inhabiting any of the waters of that section. One explanation may be found in the fact that about 200 northern pike were placed in Columbus pond about eight years ago. The two fish may be leftovers from that stocking. . . . Scores of motorists who thought they had to watch the parade from their cars parked along Pennsylvania and Conewango avenues Monday night and early Tuesday morning, so that they would have a front seat view of the procession. . . . Local anglers report the first few days of bass and muskellunge fishing at Chautauque Lake have been very disappointing. Several report catching one or two bass but those who lived for muskies found the big fellows were not hungry. . . . Opening of the bass season has revived activities among anglers who like to fish off the Hickory street bridge. . . . Reports of wholesale buying of sugar, coffee and other war-scarce items in some of the larger metropolitan areas are not evidenced in communities in this area. . . . Several Warren county riders placed at the Horse Show held Sunday at Conneaut by the Circle C Ranch, a member of the P. O. N. Y. Association. Bob Spencer, of this city, placed third in the parade horse class with Golden Lady, and third place in the stock horse class with Thundercloud. Miss Peggy Frost, of Columbus, took fourth place with Colonel, the children's equitation. . . . Larry Stoltz, of the Allegheny National Forest, tells about a tree cut last week which he estimates was 172 years old. He says the first 133 years of the tree's life, a giant hemlock, it was in dense, virginial forests and grew seven inches in that whole span of time. Some trees were cut in the immediate vicinity, probably in a hardwood log job and in the next five years the tree grew a full inch. Further cutting took place when it was finally scientifically "released," that is, when the area was thinned out for maximum growth, the tree added nine inches. When cut, it was 24 inches across the stump and produced 400 board feet of lumber. . . . Ray Weigle, exalted ruler of Warren Lodge, left Monday in company with Ruel Smith, to board a special train out of Pittsburgh for the national convention of the Elk lodge to open this week in Miami, Fla. The Warren men expect to visit Cuba a few days before returning to the States for the meeting. . . . The question of a celebration next year is already being discussed, but from this distance it looks like a one-day affair, if any at all. . . . The Jaycees hoped to have a little money left over for their treasury after paying expenses of the big "blow-out," but they will be lucky if they have enough to throw a party for the general committee which worked so hard to make the project the success that it was. . . . Ten years ago a feature of the fireworks display was "Niagara Falls," stretched on a cable across the river from the foot of Hazel street, and at (Turn to Page Eighteen)

GI's Yell 'Fowl' and VA Gives Them the Bird--Mink, Too!

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Veterans Administration was forced to back down lightly in its attempts to halt the use of GI training funds for the raising of pigeons, pheasants and minks.

VA recently discovered that great numbers of vets who were taking on-farm training were devoting all of their time to raising such commercial birds and animals. It put out an order saying that all trainees under the farm program had to have "tilling of the soil" as their basic activity.

Loud complaints to Congress got VA to back down. It ruled that all vets who were already involved in raising birds and animals could continue, but that henceforth new trainees would have to stick to soil tilling.

It may be just a coincidence but the new commanding general of U. S. forces in Europe is one of the top experts on the tactical use of atomic weapons. In his former post as director of the Command and General Staff School he supervised the teaching for the first time of the use of the A-bomb on the ground.

AGRICULTURAL DEPT. experts predict that the new freeing of oleo from federal taxes will quickly accentuate a long-time trend away from the use of butter. People used an average of 15 pounds per person between 1922 and 1949. Last year the average was 13 pounds. A study also reveals the curious fact that oleo consumption increased in the highest income groups but decreased in some of the lower income brackets.

Rep. John B. Bennett (R., Mich.) has successfully ironed out the major kinks in the bill which would prohibit the interstate shipment of slot machines. The bill got through the Senate without hearings and with scant attention paid to its content.

The Senate version of the bill would have opened the door for prohibiting shipment of all coin-operated devices which are not manufactured for gambling purposes. Bennett's version, which has been approved by the House Interstate Commerce Committee, narrows down the legal definition of a slot machine to a coin machine which is operated with a drum or wheel and which by its own operation pays off in cash or property.

Manufacturers of coin vending machines for cigarettes and pop and makers of purely amusement, non-gambling coin devices are considerably relieved by the new version. It is expected that the Senate will okay Bennett's changes and that the bill will get through this session.

GOVERNMENT housing experts take some of the steam out of the big 1950 housing boom by pointing out some facts behind the rosy statistics. They point out that the average house being built today is less than half the size of the average house which was put up in 1929. The houses are even smaller than the average house which was built last year.

General Business Activity In State For May Shows Rise

State College—General business activity in Pennsylvania during May showed a sharp rise over the previous month, the Bureau of Business Research at the Pennsylvania State College said today.

The Bureau reported that the Index of General Business showed a gain of 7 per cent or 18 points in May over April and for the third successive month, the index stood above that for the same period last year.

Based upon bank debits, industrial power sales, and factory payrolls, and using 1935-1939 as 100, the index stood at 287 in May, as compared to 269 in April and 252 last May.

Gains were recorded in all components: industrial power sales, bank debits, and factory payrolls. The Bureau reported that motor vehicle sales and building contracts declined after having been very high for several consecutive months, but that both series are still far ahead of last year for the first five months.

The following percentages of gain in May over April were reported: Allentown 8; Altoona 2; Bethlehem 12; Easton 3; Erie 4; Harrisburg 8; Johnstown 7; Lancaster 5; Oil City 6; Philadelphia 8; Chester 8; Pittsburgh 8; Reading 5; Sharon 7; Scranton 6; Wilkes-Barre 8; Williamsport 2; and York 10.

With all component parts showing improvement, the index of general business for the oil field area rose 6% from April to May. The 2% rise in the index from last May was caused by an increase in bank debits, since industrial power sales showed no change and factory payrolls fell slightly.

With most series showing month-to-month and year-to-year rises, the picture for the Bradford-Warren area is generally an optimistic one. Decreases occurred only in those series which had been running well ahead of last year.

YOUNGSVILLE

The Fourth of July passed quietly in Youngsville, with many people out of town. Warren's celebration was enjoyed by many from here. The parade was especially appreciated. Youngsville citizens not only watched the parade, but participated with the high school band, and members of the Volunteer Fire Dept. donning their uniforms and marching in the parade. There was also several local commercial floats.

The races at Starbrick also brought a good crowd, some from Youngsville and Chautauqua Lake and other near by resorts had their share of local people. There were some family reunions. The farm home of Claude Ruhlman on Hull Hill was the scene of one family reunion group.

Island Park, which is getting dressed up for the Warren County Shrine Horse Show to take place July 6-9, attracted some people Tuesday.

Mrs. Margie Finlan and Mrs.

Gwendolyn Mariner spent several days last week in Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzsimmas, Pittsburgh, were recent guests of Mrs. Fitzsimmas' father and an aunt in California.

Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Chitester attended the McClelland-Wilkom wedding at the Tiona Methodist church.

Mrs. C. V. Myers, of Lake Pleasant, and little daughter, Sally Patricia, have been guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs.

W. H. Brazee. Mrs. Della Myers, of California, has also been a guest. The party enjoyed a trip to Chautauqua.

SE SHOW ENTRY—Sun Beam, a jumper owned by Sterling Smith of Ravenna, Ohio, shown here at a recent show in Middleburg, Va., is one of the top entries in the Youngsville Horse Show which opens tonight at Island Park. The show, sponsored by the Warren County Shrine Club, will continue through Sunday, with the proceeds to go to the Cripple Children's Fund of the Shrine Club. The show is the largest between Chicago and Harrisburg, and is even bigger than the Buffalo International Show held a few weeks ago. More than 250 horses from some of the best known stables in the East are entered.

Warren Policemen For Youngsville Hired Borough Council

Youngsville borough council, in its meeting held Monday evening, hired a new policeman for a probation period to replace Officer Strain, formerly employed at Warren State Hospital, a resident of Corry.

The council also resolved to establish a street light, one on West street near Saron Lutheran church, and the second on High-avenue, between the bridge and Mill street.

The police report for June listed traffic arrests, mostly for driving too fast for conditions. Other arrests in the report listed the arrest of two juveniles for three burglaries; three doors found unlocked; six street lights reported out; one automobile accident investigated; and meter collections of $268.15.

Permission was given to the fire department to take a truck to the Starbrick race track to stand by, with payment to be arranged by the fire committee. Permission was also given to the horse show committee to hold Sunday's show at 8:45 p. m. in the event of rain Sunday afternoon.

A used grader and rake for use on borough streets, was purchased for the sum of $165.

Council will hold a special meeting next Monday evening to take up tax questions.

CELEBRATION BRIEFS

The Lock Haven Black Knights drum corps left Warren early to participate in another parade during the early evening, but according to word received here did not arrive home until midnight—disappointed and sorry that they did not remain in Warren for the entire program. They phoned word back to Warren that they are "100 per cent pleased," and hope that they can return here for a similar event some time in the future.

The Keystone Garage is still receiving compliments for the wonderful float furnished the committee for use of the queen and her court in the parade. It is doubtful if any entry in the parade was photographed more often. The Keystone boys spent quite a sum of money and considerable time in preparing the float and the celebration group as well as the queen committee is most appreciative for their cooperation.

The "picture page" in Wednesday's issue made a popular hit and copies are being sent to all parts of the country.

Until a representative of the company in New Castle comes to Warren for a conference, no announcement will be made regarding plans for replacing the fireworks display "washed out" by Tuesday night's rain storm.

In giving credit for assistance received, mention should be made of the fact that members of the queen's court were given hair styles and permanents at the Doris Lott Beauty Salon Monday afternoon in preparation for their appearance in the parade on the Keystone Garage float Tuesday morning. The queen was given a permanent at the LaVogue Beauty Shop and for both of these courtesies the committee is most appreciative.

Times Topics

Two Barns In The Spring Creek Area Destroyed By Fire

Corry Journal: Fire of unknown origin destroyed two large barns on the Andrew Szweduk farm, formerly the Kenneth Pitt place, on Eldred Hill two miles north-east of Spring Creek near Blue Eye Sunday afternoon.

Volunteer firemen from the Columbus Fire Department answered the alarm but found the structures beyond saving when they arrived. Firemen placed the loss in the neighborhood of $7,000.

The flames were discovered at 2 p. m. by Mrs. Szweduk when she went out to roll up the windows in the car when it began raining. Summoning her husband they succeeded in saving two horses and some chickens but a hog perished in the flames.

Szweduk who has owned the farm for the past six years and farmed it at various periods during that time, was unable to determine the origin of the blaze but advanced the theory that the blaze must have started from defective wiring. Although it was raining when the fire broke out, there had been no lightning.

In addition to the two buildings a grain binder and mowing machine owned by Szweduk were lost along with a new corn picker and large threshing machine owned by Henry Jaguth, a neighbor. Jaguth placed his loss at $2,250 on those two pieces of equipment, stating there was no insurance on them. The barn were insured for $2,800.

Columbus firemen by using the fog nozzle on a line from their pumper were successful in saving the electric pump of the milk house.

Over 1,400 Attend South Penn Picnic

Over 1,400 employees, their families and guests attended the South Penn Oil Company employees' picnic at Waldeck Park, Lindlow. The outing began at noon and continued through the afternoon and evening. Visitors were present from as far as Wellsboro on the north and Pittsburgh on the south.

George J. Hanks, company president, and A. J. Saxe, vice president, addressed the group in the afternoon. Mr. Hanks spoke of the recent improved insurance and hospitalization plans that have been made available to employees and reviewed the company's pension record. He added that the insurance and hospitalization plans have nearly 100 percent employee participation.

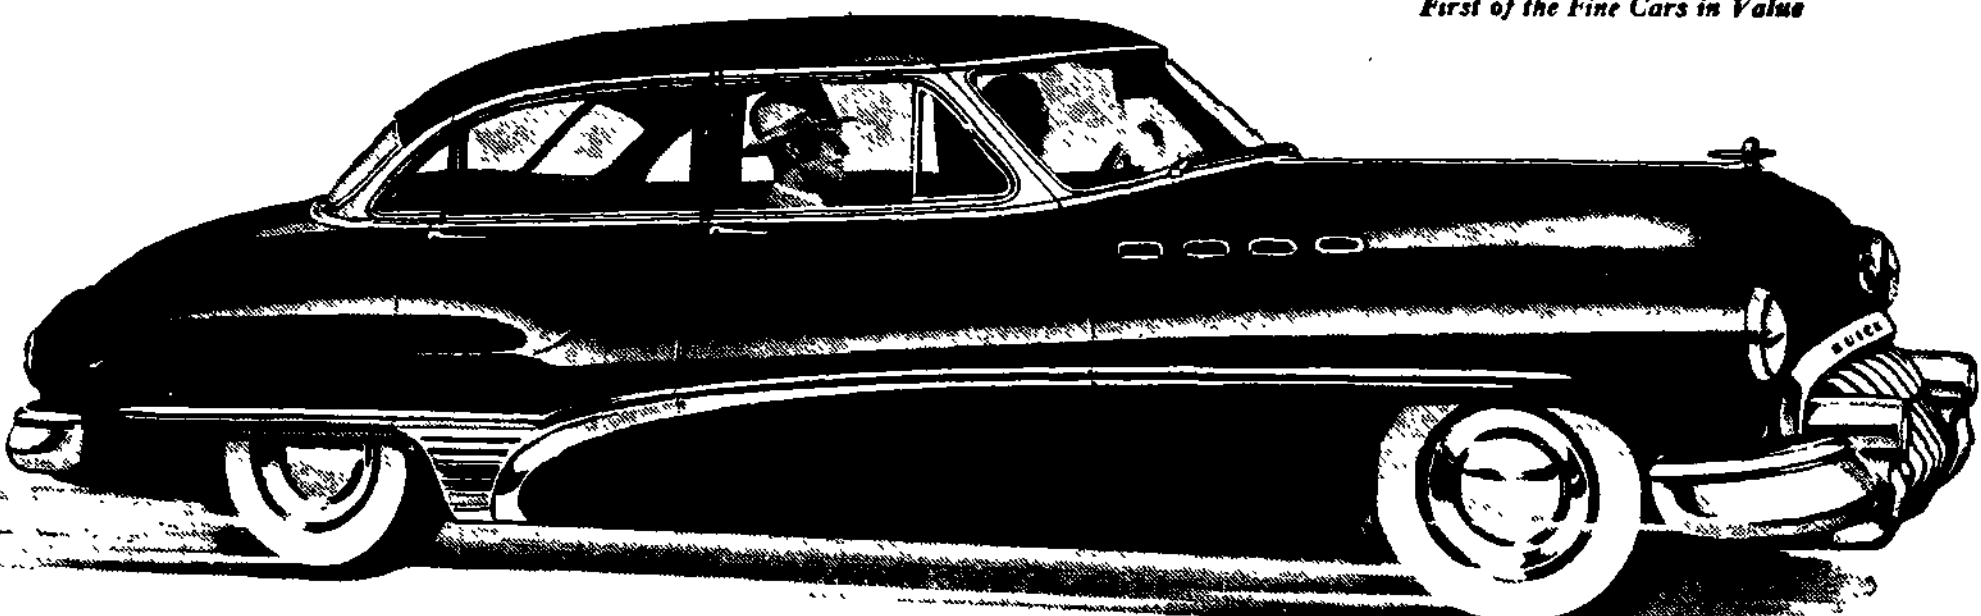

Mr. Saxe spoke of the new company publication which has been mailed to each employee. He urged the aid of employees in gathering news for the publication.

An afternoon of games and sports was featured by two ball games. A softball game between the office girls and office men was won by the men. The Southern District All Stars were defeated in a baseball game by the Northern District Rookies.

The picnic was sponsored by the foremen and supervisors of the company, with Oscar I. Stranburg as chairman. He was assisted by Chester Wolfe and Ralph C. Rhodes. Roy Edgar and Henry Graff had charge of the first-aid section of the picnic.

The Car that puts your Best Foot forward

WE think you'll agree that the whole story of an automobile isn't told in its power, its room, its styling, even in its ride.

There is the all-important point about what a car does to you—and that's where ROADMASTER really shines.

For you can't slip into this bonny beauty's broad seats without feeling like somebody pretty special.

When you take its neat wheel in your hand—when you cut loose, with a toe-touch, the rich baritone of its big Fireball straight-eight power plant—when you feel the smooth surge of its Dynaflo-cushioned take-off—

Man, then you know you've got a real automobile!

And don't overlook this:

That graceful sweep of chrome along the fender—found on no other car made today—is a mighty eye-catching note of distinction.

Those four Ventiports, too, cause many a head to turn—they mark you unmistakably as the owner of the biggest and best Buick built—a car as fine and rich as any man has need for.

There are a lot of good, solid, dollars-and-cents reasons for making ROAD-

MASTER your choice over any other: Its size. The commanding performance of its 152-hp Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight engine. Dynaflo Drive standard. A ride that's quite matchless in its gentle softness. Distinguished styling from bold, protective front end to gleaming "double bubble" taillight.

But if you're ready for a car that's more than just an automobile—if you want one that puts your best foot forward in any company—that's the real reason for seeing your Buick dealer quickly—to talk turkey about a ROADMASTER.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT
This rugged front end (1) shows the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and maneuvering easier.

IT'S DEATH, MY DARLING!

By Amelia Reynolds Long

Chapter 11

THEY came within the next half hour, headed by Sheriff Jefferson Wilkes, a tall, loose-jointed man with a deceptively little smile. When he had gathered us all—with the exception of Aunt Minerva, who had by this time been taken to her room and left in the care of Marionette—he listened in silence to Beau's account of his discovery of Claude's body. Then he turned to the rest of us.

"Is that the way you all tell it?" he inquired.

"I heard a—a sort of thump," Bobby volunteered timidly. The sheriff turned his heavy-lidded eyes upon her.

"When was that?" Miss Brennon?" he asked.

"Just before Mrs. Dumont started screaming," Bobby replied. "Beau said it was the door slamming when he came in."

The sheriff offered no comment.

"Any more of you hear it?" he asked instead. "What about you, Miss Piper?"

"I don't remember any thump," I told him. "It was the screaming that woke me."

"Believe I heard it," Lee offered uncertainly. "But I thought it happened before the screaming began, at least fifteen minutes before. Or come to think of it," he added, as an afterthought, "I seem to recollect a second thud or thump, just a few seconds before the screaming started."

The sheriff looked as though he had heard of seeing, but never hearing, double before. For my part, I was wondering whether Lee actually had heard two thuds, or whether he had suddenly realized what his admission about the time might mean where Beau was concerned, and was attempting to cover up.

Sheriff Wilkes waited a moment, as though expecting some more of us to mention a second thud.

"Was everybody stayin' here in the house?" he inquired, when none of us did.

As he asked the question, he glanced at Henri, who seemed to think that this made it incumbent upon him to answer.

"No," he said. "Some of us were sleeping in the garçonnieres."

"Which ones?"

"Both of them. There are only two."

"The sheriff means which of us, Henri, Amédée explained. He turned to Wilkes. "My brother and I were in the garçonniers on the right, my cousin Beauregard and Mr. Haye in the other."

"The sheriff's eyes flickered. Suddenly he swung upon Beau. "If you were supposed to be asleep out there," he shot out, "what were you doin' over here at nearly three o'clock in the morning?"

"I couldn't sleep," he answered without hesitation. "The truth is, I'd had a little too much to drink last evening, and it was giving me something of a headache. So I decided to take a turn or two around the grounds in the hope that it would wear off. Then I noticed the light over here, and thought I'd see who was up. That was how I came to find Claude."

The sheriff seemed to weigh this answer. "Wasn't your grandfather's funeral a funny time to get drunk?" he demanded.

"Perhaps I'd better explain that Colonel Dumont left some rather unusual instructions to be carried out after his death," Cousin Jeff intervened. "He directed that after the funeral, a formal dinner party was to be held in his honor, when a special case of champagne would be opened. He also asked that all his male relatives wear Confederate uniforms, which accounts for the costume Mr. Claude Dumont was wearing when he was killed."

The sheriff scratched the side of his lean jaw. He looked as though he was wondering whether this had been a funeral or a three ring circus complete with everything except the peanuts and pink lemonade.

But before he could put another question, the door to the hall, which the coroner had

Ailene Lord Bride of Ronald Thompson In Gown Designed By Grandmother

At seven o'clock last evening in First Presbyterian church, Dr. Robert S. Steen united in marriage Ailene Lord, 711 Fourth avenue, and Ronald Thompson, of Irvine.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Lord, of LaVale, Md., formerly of Warren, and Mr. Thompson is the son of Mrs. Roscoe Patch, Irvine.

Baskets of white gladioli were used in simple decorations for the candlelight ceremony. Eleanor Thompson, Youngsville, was at the piano for accompaniments for Lillian Ristau, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white nylon sheer over taffeta, styled and made by her grandmother, Mrs. Laura Mathas. A Peter Pan collar finished the neckline and shirring accented both the bodice and sleeves. Her nylon veil fell fingertip length from a Juliet cap and she carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli.

Attending her were Mrs. Marilyn Munson as matron of honor; Jean DeVore and Carol White, as bridesmaids. Their frocks, of green and yellow taffeta, respectively, were of a model similar to the bridal gown and all carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses and lavender sweet peas.

Completing the bridal party were Virgil Munson, Youngsville, as best man; and these ushers, Harold and Robert Thompson, Youngsville; Howard Thompson, Clarendon; Danford Lord, Warren.

Mrs. Lord chose for the wedding a navy marquisette, with gray accessories and white corsage, while Mrs. Patch wore a gray and rose bengal print and red rose corsage.

The reception followed immediately at the YWCA, where the bride's table was centered with a four-tier wedding cake flanked by white candles. Mrs. Elton Barton and Mrs. Dorothy White served the cake. Mrs. Marilyn Jordan, served punch, and Mrs. JoAnn Dalrymple presided at the coffee urn.

The guest list of 125 included the following from out of town: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young, Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Young, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lord, Mary Kay Lord, Mr. and Mrs. James Griffin, Bradford; Allan

Johnson, Chicago, Ill.; Henry Holmlund, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Atkins, Erie; and many relatives and friends from Youngsville.

For a Canadian wedding trip, the bride selected a green gabardine suit and beige accessories. The couple will be at home to friends at 117 Fourth avenue after July 10.

The bride, graduate of Warren High School in the Class of 1948, is a New Process Company employee; the bridegroom, graduate of Youngsville High two years earlier, is employed by the National Forge and Ordnance Company.

Honoring the bride-elect with parties have been Mrs. Dorothy White and daughter, Carol, Mrs. Elton Barton, Mrs. Marilyn Munson, Jean DeVore, the NPC collection department with a dinner at the Bide-A-Wee, and members of her Sewing Club.

Vacation School At Sugar Grove Is Ended With Picnic

Sugar Grove, July 6—Daily Vacation Bible School was concluded with a luncheon served to 103 children, 19 workers and teachers.

The sessions, which included all children in the community, were held in the Free Methodist and Presbyterian churches, with workers supplied by Covenant Mission, Methodist, Free Methodist and Presbyterian church schools.

Mrs. Paul Cariberg, Sr., was superintendent and Mrs. Neil Scott the pianist, with the following teachers and workers:

Beginners—Mrs. Clifford Storms, Mrs. Lewis Peterson, Barbara Sherrard, Eleanor Brown, Mrs. Robert Taylor, Geraldine Miller, Ruth Ann Scott, Mrs. Lloyd Porter. Primary—Mrs. L. L. Adams, Mrs. Earl Capron, Mrs. Harry Webster, Mrs. Harold Mack, Geraldine Brown, Mrs. Theodore Al-jenson, Mrs. Richard Atkins, Mrs. Ray Gruber, Marguerite Stohl-berg, Katherine McClure, Juniors—Mrs. Neil Scott, Mrs. Paul Cariberg, Jr., Florence Cariberg, Mrs. George Cracker, Joan Johnson.

Closing services for the school were given in the Presbyterian church, with the following program numbers: Prelude and procession; pledge to the flag; prayer; song; doxology; prayer by Rev. Adams, Free Methodist pastor choruses by the school; message, Rev. Ernest Bolling, pastor of the Methodist church; exercises by all three departments, including scripture, singing, flannel-graph work; presentation of awards and certificates, teachers; benediction, Pastor Melvin Rein.

If This Describes You-- You Need an Interest in Life

HERE are a few signs that the housewife needs to develop at least one new absorbing interest in life:

If she finds herself desperately trying to find something to talk about besides the children and the neighbors when her husband comes home at night.

If she finds herself wondering disconsolately what good her education is doing her.

If she looks with envy on the women who hold down jobs outside their homes.

If she gets the feeling now and then that life is passing her by.

If she wakes up each morning facing the day as though it is just another day to be lived through, with nothing of special interest to look forward to.

If she feels when she is in a social gathering that she hasn't anything but small talk to contribute to the conversation.

If her husband has come to have little or no respect for her ideas.

SYMPTOMS OF BAD OUTLOOK

THESE are all signs that the housewife should do something about her discontent besides brood about it or tell herself with resignation that things will be different once the children are older and she isn't quite so tied down.

They won't be different unless she makes up her mind to make them different right away. To sit down and figure out what she would really like to do that she can do, her present situation being what it is.

Any housewife with enough brains and imagination to be discontented with a purely routine existence can, if she puts her mind to it, find some new interest in life.

But she has to be willing to strike out on her own, not necessarily expecting to find what she wants in group activity, and not being dependent on her husband's cheering her on.

Too many housewives give up the search for a worthwhile interest in life either because they can't find it in club work or because their husbands are unsympathetic to their need for "doing something."

50th Anniversary Of Chas. Deshners Occasion of Party

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deshner, Endeavor, were honored guests at open house from two until five and from seven until nine o'clock at their home July 3 in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary. The occasion was planned by their children and attended by a large number of friends who called to extend congratulations.

The home was attractively decorated with summer flowers and the dining table was centered with a beautiful arrangement of mock orange and coreopsis, flanked by candelabra holding yellow candles. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated in yellow and topped with tiny golden slippers.

Mr. and Mrs. Deshner received many lovely gifts, including a purse of money, and many greetings.

Guests were present from Atlanta, Ga.; Salamanca, Limestone, Jamestown, N. Y.; Warren, Ohio; Warrington, N. J.; Wesleyville, Pleasantville, Franklin, Oil City, Warren, Tionesta, Pittsburgh, Sheffield, Endeavor, Lancaster and Youngsville.

Charles Deshner and Mae Mesley were married July 3, 1906, at Olean, N. Y., but have spent their entire lives in Warren and Forest counties. They have six living children: Mrs. Edna Taft, Oil City; Mrs. Bertha Peterson and Mrs. Ruth Kiffer, Endeavor; Francis, of Lancaster; Robert, Pleasantville, and Stanley, Youngsville. They also have 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. One daughter died in 1928 at the age of 12 years.

Kiffer and England Wedding July 3rd In Endeavor Home

Miss Imogene C. England, of Tionesta, became the bride of Charles E. Kiffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Kiffer, of Endeavor, in a pretty wedding ceremony performed in the living room of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deshner, at 6:30 p. m. July 3.

The service was read by the Rev. D. E. Fye, pastor of Tionesta Free Methodist church, with Mrs. Stanley Deshner, Youngsville, as the vocalist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Walter England, the bride was attended by Mrs. Bertha Peterson. Donald Kiffer was his brother's best man.

The reception followed immediately in the home for 45 guests. The couple left later for a wedding trip to Kentucky, to reside in Wesleyville upon their return.

The bride is a graduate of Tionesta High School and has been employed at the Shipperville Pottery.

Mr. Kiffer, known to friends as "Skip", was graduated from East Hickory High School and is employed by the Griswold Manufacturing Company of Erie.

PHYLLIS ELAINE DEVORE PLANS OPEN CHURCH

Mr. and Mrs. Albert DeVore, Jackson street extension, announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Phyllis Elaine, to Raymond Laverne Simonsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Simonsen, of Lancaster, formerly of Warren.

The ceremony will take place at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, July 15, in St. Paul's Lutheran church, with the bride observing open church.

TODAY is pay day for all the folks who have classified ads.

Kuhre's North Warren Market will be closed from July 10th until September 1st

Dates Are Set For Annual Registration Of Bikes In Boro

Announcement was made this morning that police will conduct their bi-annual registration of bicycles in Warren borough on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 13, 14 and 15.

All bicycle owners must register their vehicles with the police department and the fee is 25c, which covers only the cost of the license plate and registration cards.

Hours of registration will be from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. each of the three days.

Scotchline tape to be attached to the bicycles is being furnished by the National Outdoor Advertising Company and the Warren County Motor Club. When tried at the last registration, the addition of the tape proved most satisfactory, and the procedure will be continued this year.

In addition to the license plate and registration card, each bicycle owner will be handed safety literature outlining proper conduct for riding bikes, and parents are urged to study this literature together with their youngsters to be sure that all bicycle riders thoroughly understand what is required of them.

95 YEARS OLD—Mrs. Salome Huck, who lives with a son, Walter Huck, on the Jackson Run road, will be counting birthday candles on Friday, when she celebrates her 95th anniversary. She will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Martin J. Wallin, 414 Prospect street, for a luncheon at one o'clock and will receive friends at her own home during the evening. She has two other children, Emmett Huck, North Warren, and Oswald Gruber, Lander.

OBITUARIES

LEON THOMPSON
Barnes, July 6—Friends in town have received word of the death of Leon Thompson in Mt. Pleasant, Mich., last Saturday, with services in his memory held from the Mt. Pleasant Funeral Home and interment at that place on Wednesday.

Mr. Thompson was the son of the late C. D. and Mrs. Thompson, former residents of Barnes, received his education in Sheffield township schools and saw much active service in World War I. He followed the petroleum industry and was successful in the opening of new gas fields in Michigan.

MRS. MILES MELEY
Services in memory of Linnie J. Meley, wife of Miles Meley, Clarendon, were held at the Clarendon Evangelical United Brethren church at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. C. Van. The following served as bearers for interment in Oakland cemetery: Gail Grinnell, Jack Bliss, William Barr, Leon Bliss, Paul Eckborg and Archie Fredricks.

In attendance from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Myrl Scott, Mrs. Clayton Scott, Paul Chase, Minto Jean Chase, Marie Chase, Mrs. Selmburger and Evelyn Brunker, Bradford; Mrs. Clarence Scott, Collingswood, N. J.; Roy Scott, Ned Scott, Doris Scott, Richard Scott, Pamela Scott, Derrick City; Pearl Garris, Mr. and Mrs. K. Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Eckborg, Mrs. Eckborg, Kane; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Scott and family, Falconer, N. Y.; Adda Jones, Ephrata; Paul Eckborg, Ridgway; Ruth Parker, Frances Sharp and Mrs. Miller, Olean, N. Y.

EDWARD A. MEAD
Edward A. Mead, former Warren resident, died at his home in Erie Monday afternoon, age 57 years.

He was born near Stoneham, June 24, 1893, and had lived in Erie for the past 30 years. His wife, Sara H. Mead survives him, also his mother, Mrs. E. J. Gully, and his stepfather, E. J. Gully.

Funeral services were conducted from the Wood and Furman Funeral Home, West 21st street, Erie, this afternoon at two o'clock.

MIKE OLSON
Sheffield, July 6—Funeral services for Mike Olson, former Sheffield resident, will be conducted at 2 p. m. Friday from the Borden funeral home followed by burial in the Sheffield cemetery. The Rev. Hans Pearson of the Bethany Lutheran church will officiate.

Mr. Olson, who formerly operated the Shaw House in Sheffield, died Tuesday morning at his home in Jamestown, N. Y., at the age of 75 years. His body will be brought here Friday morning following prayer services in Jamestown at the Henderson and Lincoln chapel.

ARVID J. GUSTAFSON
Arvid J. Gustafson, 73 year old plastering contractor of Jamestown and former resident of Warren, died at 5:15 p. m. Wednesday in Jamestown General Hospital, where he underwent an operation a week ago. He was born December 23, 1877 in Sweden, was a member of Lelf Erickson Lodge, S. F. of A., and the Plasterers' Union, Local 186, of Jamestown.

Besides his wife, Aledia Peterson Gustafson, he leaves two sons, Leonard and Harold; four grandchildren; two sisters in Sweden, and several nieces and nephews in that country.

Services in his memory will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Henderson-Lincoln chapel, Jamestown, with interment following in Sunset Hill cemetery.

LUXURY SALT
Salt, despite being one of the earth's most abundant products, is so heavily taxed in some parts of the world that it is an expensive luxury to 50 per cent of the world's population.

SOCIETY ITEMS

ENGAGEMENT
The Rev. and Mrs. George R. Slaughenaupt, 646 East Eighth street, Olean, N. Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Jean, to Robert Amacher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Amacher, Warren. The wedding will take place in the late fall.

HOME LEAGUE
Salvation Army Home League members will hold their regular meeting at 7:30 this evening, when the theme will be "Worship" and the leaders will be Mrs. Sylvia Hackett, Mrs. Lottie Clark, Mrs. Mary Louis and Mrs. Florence Clark. All members and friends are extended a cordial invitation to enjoy the meeting and refreshments to be served at the close of the program.

SUGAR GROVE

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Storms, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Storms and family were in Buffalo to attend the International Harvester Company broadcast, "Harvest of Stars", held in the Municipal Auditorium and featuring James Melton, Frank Black and Orchestra, and other stars.

Mrs. Allan Frank and children, Sylvia and Jimmie, have returned from Towanda.

Bonnie Ekdahl, Chandlers Valley, spent a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Scott Stuart, Jr., while her parents were spending a few days in Cleveland.

Among those employed at Chautauqua for the season are Florence Carlberg and Ruth Phillips. Mrs. Frank Milsap is employed at Bemus Point.

Mrs. A. A. Grant and daughter, Martha, who have been ill with the mumps, left Sunday to join Dr. Grant and sons at Gilden Lake, Can.

Scott Stuart Sr., John Stuart and son, John, left Saturday for a vacation trip in Canada.

Miss Jane Abbott, Erie, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Abbott.

Mrs. Paul Jerome and daughter, Joyce, Beverly Groves and Suzanne Onink have been spending several days at their cottage on Java Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Shultz, formerly of Beulah, Mich., have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Landin on Race street and taken possession. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Landin, who have been occupying the home, have stored their furniture for the present, as they have started to build a new home on the lot on Main street recently purchased from Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Proctor.

Times Topics

MARRIAGE LICENSE
An application for marriage license was made yesterday at the Court House by Kenneth Ellsworth Haight, of Kane, and Mary Ann Sciviano, of Warren.

CROSSINGS SMOOTHED UP
Many expressions of gratitude are being heard from motorists over the manner in which the Pennsylvania Railroad has repaired crossings both at the west side near the depot and at the approach of the Glade Run bridge.

WEED CALLS
Police yesterday were busy acting on many weed calls and serving notices on vacant lot owners to get the weeds cut or be subject to arrest. Otherwise, only routine duties were listed on the docket.

CRASH INVESTIGATED
State police were called to Venturatown at 7:40 a. m. today where cars operated by Archie R. Franklin, Warren RD 3, and Gordon Altland, of Jamestown, collided at the intersection of Route 62 and the Folett Run road. According to the police report, Altland was proceeding north on Route 62 and Franklin was entering Route 62 from the Folett Run road. Altland sustained bruises about the head and damages to his car were estimated at $250. Franklin's car suffered about 300 damage. There were no arrests.

M. O. C. PICNIC
The annual Military Order of the Cooties picnic will be held Sunday at Oakview Park, from twelve noon until seven o'clock. The picnic is sponsored each year by Hay Rake Pup Tent No. 40, for the purpose of raising funds for their hospital activities. The slogan of the M. O. C. is to keep the veterans "smiling in beds of white." Through these picnics officials say, they hope to better the monthly visitations at Warren State Hospital. A cold lunch with refreshments will be served all afternoon with a delicious dinner to be served at six o'clock. Tickets for the outing may be held at the VFW social rooms or from officers or members of the committee.

 FOR a meal in a dish, one that is easy to serve on hot summer nights, try this new combination.
 It will spruce up wilted appetites.

Egg Noodles With Swedish
Meat Balls

(Makes 6 servings)

 Egg Noodles: one tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces egg noodles, 1/2 cup hot cooked spinach, finely chopped, 1/2 cup finely minced onion, 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine.

 Add salt to rapidly boiling water.
 Gradually add egg noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.
 While noodles are cooking, saute minced onion in butter or margarine.
 Add hot spinach and toss with hot noodles. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve with Swedish Meat Balls.

 Swedish Meat Balls: One cup bread crumbs, 1/2 cup milk, 1/4 cup minced onion, 1 pound ground beef, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups beef bouillon, 1/2 cup light cream.

 Soak bread crumbs in milk; mix with onion, meat, egg, salt, pepper and nutmeg. Mix lightly but thoroughly. Shape into small balls (allow 3 per serving) and saute in butter until lightly browned. Remove meat balls. Blend flour with drippings in skillet. Gradually add bouillon and cream and stir until mixture thickens. Return meat balls to gravy, cover and simmer 15 minutes.

Pensions Primary Issue In Strikes In The First Quarter

 —Washington—(AP)—Pensions and other social insurance benefits figured in disputes that caused nearly 90 percent of the work hours lost because of strikes in the first quarter of 1950, the Labor Department reported yesterday.

 Its survey showed 15,100,000 days of strike idleness in the three-month period. About 85 percent of this resulted from shutdowns in the coal industry and the Chrysler Company strikes.

 The department noted that pensions were the primary issue in the Chrysler dispute and also were a major factor, along with wage demands, in the coal strike.

 In addition, it said, disputes over pensions and other social insurance benefits were "prominent" in about 60 new strikes that occurred in the quarter.

 Counting the coal and Chrysler strikes, these issues accounted for 88.7 percent of total many days of idleness caused by labor management disputes in the period.

 (By man days idle, the department explained it meant all workers made idle for as long as one shift in establishments directly involved in a strike. Other workers indirectly thrown out of work are not counted.)

 The vast majority of strikes during the quarter, the department said, were only local in extent. Altogether, 650 new strikes, involving 293,000 workers, were recorded in the three-month period.

 With the strikes continuing into 1950 from the previous year, a total of 770 strikes involving 718,- 000 workers were in progress at one time or another during the quarter.

 Because of the coal and Chrysler strikes, Michigan, Pennsylvania and West Virginia were the states primarily affected.

 In Michigan over 4,000,000 man
 days of idleness were counted, while in each of the big coal producing states of Pennsylvania and West Virginia the total was over 3,000,000.

MacKenzie's Column

 By DEWITT MACKENZIE
 Foreign Affairs Analyst

 India's reported offer to medi-ate between Russia and the United States in an effort to end the Korean war undoubtedly is inspired by the highest humanitarian motives, but it gives one to pause in puzzlement.

 Maybe there is something concealed in the proposition which we don't sense, but this column fails to find any real basis for negotiation. The issue would seem to lie between North Korea—the Russian backed aggressor—and the United Nations, which has condemned the aggression and has called on its members to give aid to the southern Koreans in meeting the assault.

 Perhaps the key to India's intentions lies in the statement that she regards Korea as a single country and wants to see it reunited politically and economically. New Delhi is said to hold that any attempt to end the fighting would have to take into account that the Korean people want unity.

 Well, it's probably true that the Koreans want unity, and it's true that at the end of the late war the country was divided into northern and southern spheres of influence—Russia controlling the north and America the south. Two governments have resulted from this bad arrangement—a Democratic republic in the south and a Communist regime in the north.

 However, the ideological lines are drawn here as elsewhere in the world strife between Communism and Democracy. If the Korean imbroglio could be negotiated between America and Russia, then the whole cold war, the globe around, could be negotiated.

 And that, as the professor might remark, is an absurd hypothesis.
 Still, this Indian proposal has virtue. To my mind by far the most important aspect of the offer lies in the fact that it once more emphasizes that in India's prime minister, Jawaharlal Nehru, we have a new, great advocate of peace.

 Nehru was one of the most devoted followers of the late Mahatma Gandhi, the martyred exponent of brotherly love. Now we find the disciple trying to put into practice the preachings of the saintly little Mahatma.

FIREMEN EFFECT RESCUE OF BOY TRAPPED BY QUAGMIRE IN DENVER

FIRST CAUGHT AND TAGGED 19 YEARS AGO, BIG FISH IS OFTEN PULLED IN

Copyright, 1950, by Acme Newspictures

DEPENDS UPON THE WEATHER—On a cold day, little Timothy Ockenden certainly wouldn't want his sister, Gillian, three, to pour water over him in their garden in Epsom, Surrey, England. But it's summer now and Timmie is probably pretending that he's some sort of flower that needs a lot of water to grow.

ONE, TWO, THREE—Firemen struggle to free Jimmy Sisler, 14, after he had spent more than an hour trapped in the slime of a treacherous quagmire in Denver, Colo. Jimmy had sunk below his waist and was nearly suffocated before being rescued, exhausted but otherwise unharmed.

POOR POOCH—Fireman Bob Arwine is bandaging Rhett Butler, a Dalmatian dog belonging to the headquarters fire station in Knoxville, Tenn. The pet was burned by escaping gas in a meat market fire when he answered an alarm with Arwine.

GREETING OF PLACARDS—Carrying signs calling for the freeing of political prisoners in Greece, pickets parade by a pier in New York. The demonstration was staged upon arrival of the new Greek Ambassador, Athanasios G. Polus, to take his post in U.S.

ALL FOR LOVE—Homer Cook, the Oklahoma bad boy who entered Germany illegally in order to visit his girl, Anne Sporer, right, sits in court in Munich awaiting trial on 20 charges. Cook appears mild enough, but he's a past master at breaking out of jail in order to visit his girl. And when he goes calling, all of Germany has to stage another manhunt for a few days.

EASY TO SPOT—In New York, opera singer Marguerite Piazza models a nylon velvet leopard skin bathing suit with an elasticized top. The outfit has a separate skirt which is open at the sides and can be used as a stole around the shoulders.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE—Ice-skater Jean Arlen is somewhat overshadowed by the 18-foot Santa Claus which was one of the features at the National Association of Display Industries Exhibition in New York. It may be like rushing the season, but passers-by must have been forcefully reminded of the possibilities of display.

NO WAY TO TREAT A LADY—Even though she's a fish, and Minnie Methuselah, a resident of the weedbeds in Chautauqua Lake, N. Y., is very annoyed at being stripped of her eggs by N. Y. Conservation Department workers. They were preparing for the opening of the muskellunge season and Minnie is an old acquaintance; she was originally caught and tagged in 1931, when she was at least five years old. Since then she's been captured several times and is now over 50 inches long.

MOTHER NATURE AT WORK—Hot weather doesn't present any bathing problem to the pet robin belonging to Mrs. Gilbert Black, of St. Louis, Mo. He takes a shower under a water faucet and then flies around the house until he's dry.

A TOTAL LOSS—This is what is left of the automobile in which two Pittsfield, Mass. residents met death when they crashed near Nassau, N. Y. State police identified the driver as Edward Persip.

Rocky Nelson May Be Answer To Cards' Who's on First Riddle

By The Associated Press

Rocky Nelson looks like the answer to Eddie Dyer's "who's on first?" riddle. Since Nelson reined St. Louis, the Cards have on six straight on their march to the National League lead.

First base has been Manager Dyer's headache ever since he took the job. Each spring he goes through the same motions, hoping to keep Stan Musial in the outfield. Usually Stan winds up on first.

It was the same story last March. Steve Bulko, the hulking rookie from Rochester, was the new boy. Bulging Bulko didn't hit. Nelson didn't impress because he couldn't hit the lefthanders, and Dyer was recuperating on an operation.

Bulko opened, but not for long. In May 5, Stan the man was back in first and Steve was back in Rochester. But with Musial on the left, the outfield lacked something.

They shipped Nelson to Columbus and he started to burn up the American Association. The good looks in Nelson knew it was only a matter of time before the Cards could call him back. When they did, nobody was surprised, for he was hitting .419, leading the league.

Nelson continues where he left off in the minors. With nine hits, including three doubles and a homer, in 23 trips, he's hitting .91. His defensive play has been excellent. And Musial is back in the old hitting stride with only one outfield to worry about.

S-P-O-R-T-O-R-I-A-L-S (By Joe Gardner)

Now that the Fourth of July holiday is safely behind us once more, we can summon enough courage to reminisce about another Fourth of July more than twenty-five years ago. At that time we managed a club in Russell and booked a game with the fast moving Central Pennsylvania Lumber Company's Ball Club of Kinzua. This was during the days of prohibition and baseball was a serious business to us all until after the last man was out in the ninth. However, the spectators never paid too much attention to this rule. "Dutch" Hart of Sheffield was the pitching ace of this district at that time and we were able to hold the Kinzua nine to an eight to nothing score, our favor, for the first seven innings. Betting money had flown freely before the game and the lumberjacks had all the money in sight covered like a tent. To make matters worse, the manager of the Kinzua team was umpiring the game from a stance behind the pitcher. Despite a few fist fights and near riots, everything would have gone along smoothly were it not for a little incident that happened in our half of the eighth inning. "Wig" Weatherby had hit safely and was on first base. "Cub" Moll then doubled to right field almost into the Allegheny River and "Wig" started for second on the hit. No one will ever know what possessed Weatherby to run from second base directly for the home plate, almost touching the umpire as he went by. This worthy war watching the outfielders retrieve the ball and he did not see "Wig" until he had crossed home plate, then his ribs called him safe. There have been riots before, but the one that broke loose that Fourth of July afternoon at Kinzua could be classed among the best. Needless to say this incident terminated not only the ball game but also the hospitality extended to the Russell ball club, who found that the odds were too great to remain on the field and departed with speed and dispatch. The feud thus started lasted for many years—no Russellite was safe in going to Kinzua and the Kinzua boys refused to replay the game in Russell under any circumstances. If our memory serves us correctly the following were on the field that day: Willis Eby, "Cub" Moll, John Moll, Dutch Hart, Frank Scalise, Gerald Duell, Eddie Hale, Henne Kyle, Fred Martin and Clarence Akeley. All are invited to help swell the Kiwanis Crippled Childrens Fund by appearing in uniform at the Jamestown Municipal Stadium at 2 p. m. July 16th. and on Warren's Memorial Field July 29th, same time.

THE SCOREBOARD Billy Roche Weighs In With Grading of 'Sugar Robinson'

BY NED BROWN
Batting for Harry Grayson, NEA Sports Editor, who is on vacation.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Old Billy Roche, dean of deans in the boxing game, weighs in with his annual comment. This time his subject is Ray Robinson, generally conceded to be the best fighting man-pound for pound—in the business today.

Ray is matched to defend his welterweight title against Charles Fusari, of Irvington, N. J., in a 15-round bout at Roosevelt Stadium, Jersey City, Aug. 7.

Robinson is putting his welter crown on the line, and all for sweet charity. Sugar Ray is to receive one dollar for his services, the rest of what would be his end going to the Runyon Cancer Fund.

"That's a very laudable thing for Robinson to do," says the venerable Billy Roche. "But," he continued veering off on a tangent, "while I'm for freedom of the press, I ain't for license. And it seems to me the boys are going a little off the course when they headline that Robbie will risk his title against Fusari."

"Whadda they mean, 'risk'? That Fusari is a nice, clean young feller, a clever boxer—as boxers go nowadays—but he ain't rugged enough for that Sugar Baby."

"A NOTHER point on which I differ with the boxing writers is that Robinson is the greatest welterweight since the adoption of the Marquis of Queensberry Rules.

"Didn't these fellows ever read about Stanley Ketchel? THERE was the greatest welterweight in the history of fistcuffs. Somehow or other, these late record books overlook the fact that Steve—that was our monicker for Ketchel—was recognized as welterweight champion back in 1907, when he knocked out Joe Thomas at Colma, Calif."

"They had agreed to make 150 pounds for the fight, but a few days before the battle, Steve came to Jim Coffroth, the promoter, and said: 'Gee, I'm sorry Mister Coffroth, but I can't make the weight. I guess I'll lose my forfeit.'

"Jim frankly called me in—I referee the fight, you know—and we rushed Ketchel to a Turkish bath. When I saw him stripped, I said: 'Hey, wait a minute; get on them scales there.' Ketchel got on the scales and weighed 145 pounds!

"'Whaddaya mean, ya can't make the weight?' I yelled at him, 'ya weigh only 145 pounds right now.'

"'Yeah, like I told Mister Coffroth,' replied Ketchel, 'I can't make the weight. I et and I et, and the most I kin git up to is this here now 145.'"

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Looks like a bear market in major league ball clubs. There's a wide variation between the bid and asked prices—for the clubs that are "on the market." It's a big secret, of course, that a couple of clubs are up for sale, a secret known only to a few million. Following the time-honored custom in baseball, owners of these clubs say one thing and mean another.

For instance, Bill DeWitt, president of the St. Louis Browns, in a plea to the St. Louis Advertising club, for better support of the team, warned that unless such support was forthcoming the club may be moved to another city.

Bill disclosed that he had received from reliable sources six different offers to buy the club. Naturally, Bill wouldn't disclose the identity of any of these "reliable sources," but everybody knows they came from Baltimore, Milwaukee, Los Angeles, Kansas City, Houston and Dallas.

Interviewed later on the subject, DeWitt declared that he merely told the Advertising Club that "if attendance didn't pick up, he may some day have to take action."

NOTHING was further from his mind, and the mind of his brother Charles, than selling the Browns.

"We're St. Louis boys," said Bill. "Our interests are here and we don't want to shift the club's franchise." Then, reversing himself on his speech to the Advertising Club, "We have received no bids and do not seek any," he said. "There is no plan to shift the franchise."

"We have had nice reports on Baltimore, especially the interest shown in the professional football team." He was referring to an exhibition game that sold out at $5 a throw to replenish the club's treasury. That, he said, "showed a keen interest in sports." But he wanted to make it plain, he hastened to add, that he had no idea of shifting the Browns' franchise elsewhere.

Asked if, in the event he moved his team, he would sell his interests or continue to operate in another city he said: "That would require study."

All this follows the general pattern of modern big league baseball. Whenever important deals are in the making, rumor gets out, the baseball writers begin their questions, and the denials gush forth like a spring freshet.

And just about the time the gushing gets gushingest, then—Bingo! The deal is announced as consummated.

New Elimination Plan Is Revised By P.I.A.A. Association

Harrisburg, July 6—(P)—The P.I.A.A. is adopting the regional elimination method for its 1951 state wrestling championships.

The new plan will mean that a boy will wrestle at the most only two times in the championship meet instead of the present maximum of four times. Edmund C. Wicht, executive director of the Pennsylvania interscholastic Athletics Association, told a reporter.

Witch said a committee headed by James J. Neely, Lancaster chairman of district three, will meet here sometime in August to formulate complete plans.

The new system calls for district champions to compete in four regional tournaments on March 3 with the winners moving into the state title meet on March 10. Sites for the regionals and state finals will be set by the committee.

Wicht said the state finals are scheduled to be held somewhere in central Pennsylvania next year. P.I.A.A. officials are investigating both Penn State's recreation hall and Johnstown's war memorial arena, now under construction.

In the past, district winners have competed in a two-day tourney with each boy wrestling three or four times.

In addition to Neely, the wrestling committee includes Frank W. Walp, Forty Fort; R. J. O'Connell, Cannonsburg, and Cyril Boggs, Clearfield.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, July 6—(P)—A perspiring postman came in with a copy of the 1950 National Football League Record and Rules Manual, which incidentally recognizes the all America conference for the first time. . . . That was sufficient reminder that they'll hardly get the all-star baseball game out of the way in Chicago next week before the footballers will begin drilling for the All-Stars vs. Eagles game in the same city Aug. 11 . . . Just to show you how tough that can be in mid-summer, the Los Angeles Rams recently notified their hirelings to report July 17 and added this warning: "Be in such shape that you can jog two miles, do 30 push-ups and run five 100-yard wind-sprints on opening day." . . . From the college side, Michigan, whose smallest home crowd last fall was 79,200 reports probable sellouts (97,000 plus) for Michigan State, Illinois, probably Northwestern and maybe Wisconsin this year. . . . and even out in Hawaii, Michigan State's Biggie Munn is suffering because a conference rule won't let him start drills before Sept. 6, although he has special permission to play Oregon State Sept. 23, a week before other Big Ten schools can start.

Shorts and Shells

Three of the fighters on Monday's big night card in Philadelphia—lightweight champ Ike Williams, Arthur King and Percy Bassett—are unbeaten this year. . . . Adrian Burk of Baylor, pro football's No. 1 draft choice this spring, is playing first base for the Alpine (Tex.) Cowboys and recently knocked in six runs with a homer, triple and single. That won the game for Tom Foster, who pitched for Rutgers this spring. . . . Herman Taylor, who has been out of the fight promoting business for a couple of years, is returning to action with the aid of Jack Kearns. . . .

Unconscious Poetry
Philadelphia's Jim Haughton reports a baseball fan walked into his office the other day moaning: "There's no headline so oft repeated as the dirge—'The A's Defeated.'"

CARNIVAL . . . . . By Dick Turner

"Don't be too zealous, comrade! That was a motion to adjourn you just vetoed!"

SIDE GLANCES By Galbraith

"Now don't be surprised if some of the French girls here recognize me. Remember the war's been over five years and they were just children when I knew them!"

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

GEORGE'S LIBERALITY CINCHES A CONTRACT
BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
"You fellows haven't been treating me so well lately," said George, but I was at this point the sort of person who holds a grudge. I'll make you a present of this trick just to set a good example for you."
"We might as well give up," said "est disgustedly. "When George's making speeches about how liberal he is, he has already cut our throat and nobody but an undertaker can help you."
West's melancholy observation "as all too true. As usual, George had given away a trick only to gain a greater advantage for himself.
West had opened the seven of spades and East had played the queen. It was at this point that George made his little speech. He could have taken the trick with

The Tag that means what it SAYS!

This is an OK USED CAR

The Famous Red and Yellow OK Tag Can Be Found on Used Cars Only at Your Chevrolet Dealer's.

When your Chevrolet Dealer puts this tag on a Used Car, you can depend on getting a buy that is positively OK. In fact, you get a written warranty, signed by the dealer, to that effect. For the "OK" tag is placed only on cars that have been thoroughly inspected and reconditioned by experts, certified for performance and value. Remember, too—your Chevrolet Dealer has a wider selection of Used Cars because he sells the most new cars.
